DIPLOMATIC BREAK BETWEEN GREECE AND TURKS FEARED

Persecutions in Asia Minor Cause Preparation of Virtual Ultimatum to Turkey

THOUSANDS ARE MISTREATED

Turkey Thought Reassured of German Support in Event of Trouble

ATHENS, Aug. 28.—Breaking off of diplomatic relations and possibly war between Greece and Turkey is now considered almost inevitable in political circles here. The censor permitted it to become known that the Venizelos is preparing sharp protests to Turkey, amounting practically to an ultimatum, as the result of fresh persecutions of Greek residents of Asia Minor.

Three hundred thousand Greek residents of Asia Minor have been compelled to leave their homes and take up their residence in interior cities of the Turkish authorities it was reliably reported today. The Greek government had kept this news from the public fearing that public sentiment would force Greece into war before the present Balkan negotiations were concluded and before Greece had exhausted all efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement through diplomacy.

Earlier in the war the Turks carefully refrained from persecuting Christian Greeks because of fear that Greece would declare war. The belief now exists in Constantinople that Germany will soon march to the aid of the Turks and the Turkish authorities on this account are becoming more arrogant, according to the Athens newspapers. They are venting on the Greeks, particularly in isolated districts, the persecutions they formerly reserved for the Armenians.

Athens Inflamed

Unconfirmed press dispatches regarding Turkish outrages on Greeks have inflamed the people of Athens. These reports charge all sorts of cruelties, including the mistreatment of Greek women by the Turks and the allegation that a number of young girls of Greek families in Asia Minor have been carried off to Turkish harems.

Greek schools and charitable institutions in the Turkish empire were recently placed under Turkish control. The Turks tore down the Greek signs and replaced them with Turkish characters.

One report that aroused much indignation here was that many Greeks in Asia Minor are forced into service in the Turkish armies. Old men, women and children are said to have been impressed into the service of the sultan in manufacturing equipment for his soldiers without regard for their health.

Food Confiscated

The Greek metropolitans of Gallipoli and Chalcidonia were authorized by the Greek colony in Constantinople to carry food to some of the Greek refugees. Enroute to the refugee districts they were stopped by the Turkish authorities and the food confiscated, one report said. The Turks told the Greek bishops that they were prepared to care for all refugees and resented outside interference.

FRENCH AVIATORS THWART GERMAN RAID ON PARIS

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The French flying squadrons guarding the city of Paris today frustrated an attempt by a flotilla of four German military planes to raid the city and in a skirmish which ensued in mid-air shot down one of the machines. The pilot and observer of the wrecked machine were killed and their charred bodies found in the wreckage of the machine which had caught fire.

The French defense squadron sighted the Germans as they approached the northern limits of the city flying at a great height and rose to meet them. Sighting the defenders the invaders turned back toward the German lines, one branching off Montmorency and dropping several bombs which did no damage.

Participants In Auto Battle Pay Fines For Speed

Participants in yesterday's "automobile gun battle," which alarmed residents on the upper end of Jackson street into calling the police, paid fines of $12.50 each in police court yesterday afternoon for speeding. The two fined were Earl Eggenburger and Elmer Linker.

Eggenburger and Linker raced out Jackson street with the throttles of their machines wide open. One of the cars was exploding at intervals. In the middle of the race a gun shot. The noise and the speed of the two machines set the neighborhood agog with reports of a desperate running fight.

HUNDRED BUSHELS TO ACRE OATS YIELD IN PARTS OF THIS COUNTY

A hundred bushels to the acre. That is the yield which farmers in certain parts of La Crosse county are getting from their oat fields, it was said today on no less authority than that of Prof. T. H. Campion of the Onalaska agricultural school. Cool damp weather which has prevailed has made the oats harvest a record-breaker.

Professor Campion said that the average yield of oats in the county is 70 bushels to the acre. Several men near West Salem, he said, had informed him that their crop averages 85 bushels to the acre, and he said that he had heard from excellent sources that certain particularly favorably situated patches ran as high as 100 bushels to the acre. The phenomenal yield also extends to other small grains. Professor Campion said. Conditions have been well-nigh perfect for the small grains, he declared.

The rye yield is around twenty-five bushels to the acre, the aggie school expert said. Wheat will run twenty-five bushels per acre, and barley sixty bushels. All are far above the average.

CITY TOO GENEROUS BUYS TUMMY—ACHE FOR EXCURSION KIDDIES

Four hundred children, scores of their parents and older brothers and sisters, many of whom had never boarded a river steamer before, were guests of the Associated Charities on the G. W. Hill yesterday afternoon, on the first free picnic given by the association.

Everybody had a good time. Too much good time for some, Father William Everett Johnson, president of the Associated Charities said today. His appeal for funds to buy ice cream and candy for the little folks was so generously responded to that more than one youngster had acute pains in his middle before the trip was over. The amount allowed for each child was rigidly limited to 25 cents, to prevent an epidemic of tummy-ache last night.

The children of the trip were charges of St. Michael's orphanage, the La Crosse Home for Women and Children, proteges of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. and youngsters known to the Associated Charities.

"I found in talking to them," said Father Johnson, "that half of the children had never been on an excursion in their lives. Captain Wisner carried the broadest smile of the entire aggregation. He was the happiest man on board.

"And the kiddies were not the only ones made glad," continued Father Johnson. "One aged couple told Captain Wisner and me that they had not had an outing for thirty years."

Six clergymen, five sisters from St. Michael's orphanage, representatives of the Good Samaritans, Home for Women and Children, and the Y. W. C. A. were on the steamer as it left La Crosse with its happy load.

Forrest Smith was the first man to greet the excursionists upon their return to La Crosse.

"I was mighty glad to see Mr. Smith," said Father Johnson, "for it was largely through his efforts that the money for the outing was obtained."

LT. R. H. GRAY TO WASHINGTON FOR SURGEONS' MEET

Head of Third Regiment
Hospital Corps Called to Capital For Conference

CALL REGARDED AS SIGNIFICANT

In Line With Hurried Efforts to Put Army in Shape for Possible
Service

A ripple of the ways of preparation for possible active service which is stirring the military and naval forces of the United States reached La Crosse today when Lieut. R. H. Gray, head of the Third Wisconsin hospital corps, received notice from Adjutant General Orlando B. Holway, head of the state militia, that he had been appointed delegate to a meeting of the national guard and regular army surgeons from all over the United States, at Washington, September 13 to 15.

The appointment came before notification that the meeting was to be held, and is regarded as significant, inasmuch as it is known that the war department is rushing preparations to put the army in shape for action if necessary.

General Holway left for Washington several days ago, following a discussion with Sergeant R. H. Schultz as to the placing of a wireless or cavalry company here. Major James R. Scott, Appleton, and Major Charles H. Stoddard, Madison, are also appointed to attend the meeting from this state.

BRITAINS RAID BELGIAN COAST

BERLIN. (Via Wireless to London), Aug. 28.—British warships have again raided the Belgian coast, bombarding Ostend, Bruges and Middle Kerke. The war office reported this afternoon that no important military damage was done.

The party will stop off at Yellowstone park on its way to Seattle, Wash., where the annual convention will be held. Mr. Schulze will visit the Panama exposition on his return trip.

TEUTONS ATTEMPT TO CUT RUSSIAN ARMIES IN THREE

Austro - Germans Would Split Czar's Forces Into Three Armies Before
Winter

MACKENSEN MOVES ON KOVEL

Belief is Von Hindenburg
Plans to Gain Favorable Position For Drive
on Petrograd

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Austro-German armies are now attempting the greatest stroke of the war. By concentrating heavy forces against the weakest Russian lines, the czar's enemies are seeking to split his field forces into three armies before the arrival of winter.

Great masses of men and metal are being hurled against the retreating Slavs in the region of Vilna. General von Hindenburg is directing the drive. He hopes to cut off the Brest Litovsk armies.

In the southeast, the Austrians, evidently reinforced by detachments from Mackensen, are attempting a rush northward through Kovel. Their object is to throw another wedge between the Brest Litovsk armies and the Russians under General Ivanoff, still holding a section of Galicia.

The heavier blow is being struck by Von Hindenburg in the north. Dispatches today predicted Von Hindenburg will be heavily reinforced, if he has not been already. The belief in military quarters here is that Von Hindenburg plans to gain a favorable position for a stroke against Petrograd. Every confidence is felt here that German strategy will not succeed.

In this connection, General Polivanoff's statement that Russia is raising new armies of 2,000,000 men ready to take the field in the spring, aroused the greatest optimism here. Reports indicate Russian munition factories are now turning out great supplies.

The Times today published an interview with M. Sazonoff, Russia's foreign minister, who declared that German efforts to scatter seeds of dissension among the Russian people have failed.

ITALY ASKS AID OF UNITED STATES

ROME, Aug. 28.—Italy has asked druggists at Minneapolis on Friday for to induce Turkey to permit the return to Italy of Italian women and children and men too old for military service. Ambassador Page had a long conference with Foreign Minister Sonnino yesterday on this subject.

BISHOP HEFFRON WILL RECOVER FROM WOUNDS INFLECTED BY PRIEST

BROTHER'S DEATH IN FRENCH ARMY CAUSED INSANITY

Winona Churchmen Believe
Father Lesches Lost Mind
Brooding Over Loss
on Battlefield

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—In a bulletin issued this afternoon Dr. McLaughy announced that a clot had been discovered about the location of the bullet in Bishop Heffron's chest. The bulletin said that three days would be required to know whether complications would set in. At the time the bulletin was issued, the bishop was resting easily.

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Bishop Patrick R. Heffron, shot three times yesterday morning by the wandering mad priest, Father L. M. Lesches, will probably recover. Bulletins on his condition were discontinued at midnight last night, and the first morning news given out said that he had slept easily at intervals throughout the night and was suffering but little.

Bullet Misses Lung
Dr. William J. Mayo, famous Rochester, Minn., physician, found upon final examination of the Bishop that the bullet which was at first thought lodged in the right lung missed the organ by a fraction of an inch. He considered it unsafe to probe for the missile. Leaving in an automobile, Dr. Mayo returned to Rochester yesterday afternoon, although he returned to Winona this morning.

A bulletin issued by Doctors Keyes and McLaughy at 9 o'clock last night gave the Bishop's temperature as 100 1/2, pulse 104, and respiration 20.

Following a thorough examination of the small chapel at St. Mary's college where Bishop Heffron was shot, it was found that a fourth bullet had been fired. The ball was found embedded in the wall.

Blame Death of Brother
Loss of his brother in the fighting with the French army in Flanders caused Father L. M. Lesches to worry and lose his health, causing him to fall on several appointments in the Winona diocese, according to Catholic circles here today. The priest's brother was shot while serving as a private, which he became just a few months after being ordained a priest. The Winona priest brooded over that loss, his friends say and his failures resulted in his shooting Bishop Patrick R. Heffron of Winona diocese, while the bishop was completing his chapel mass yesterday.

Father Lesches today was more composed than when he made rambling statements about his inability to kill rabbits and chickens yesterday. That he did not remember the events leading up to the shooting was his insistent statement today. He said he seemed to be in a dream, and that the first he remembered was the flash of a gun, and the groans of the bishop he had attempted to kill. He insisted, however, that the bishop had not treated him right in

GERMAN SINCERITY CREDITED BY THE ADMINISTRATION

Washington Takes Attitude of Berlin in Arabic
Case in Good Faith

DANGER CONSIDERED OVER

Situation Regarding Britain
Becomes Darker as German Mixup is Improved

(By CHARLES P. STEWART)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The administration gives Germany credit for absolute good faith in its latest attitude concerning submarine warfare in general and the Arabic case in particular.

This was learned today on the best authority, official, though unofficially expressed.

The statement was made in view of suggestion from various sources that the kaiser sought to start an interminable controversy over the Arabic incident, instead of giving the United States the "full satisfaction" mentioned and of acceding to the administration's demands relative to American's safety at sea.

So far as German-American trouble is concerned, it was said confidentially that all danger was considered practically over. It was conceded that this did not necessarily mean there would not be a good deal of diplomatic correspondence. With a satisfactory outcome virtually assured, however, it was said such a delay was not deemed a serious matter.

No Writing Received

Despite contrary reports, there was official authority that "nothing in writing" had reached the state department from Germany. Only an "impression" of the German attitude, it was said, was given by Ambassador Bernstorff to Secretary Lansing. Nevertheless, this "impression" was understood to be satisfying until a formal communication could be transmitted.

From Ambassador Page, London, the state department had received all the news it looked for concerning the Arabic incident until the arrival of the London embassy's full account by mail.

Ambassador Gerard continued to send fragments of information from Berlin but they related only to the German government's general disposition to reach an agreement with the United States, no report having yet reached the kaiser's admiralty from the submarine commander supposed to have torpedoed the White Star liner.

British Situation Ominous

The farther the United States gets away from trouble with Germany, the nearer she approaches to friction with Great Britain, diplomats here were saying today.

While it was generally accepted that the situation is not such as to treaten the same kind of a show down with Great Britain as was treated with Germany, yet many men in official circles held it was likely the administration might yet be compelled to consider what the American cotton growers have all along been demanding—an embargo against any and all American shipments to the allies in retaliation for order in council.

Such an embargo, it was admitted, would be a bad thing for the United States as well as for the allies, but those who suggested it expressed the view that it was practically the only weapon the Washington government has in this particular case, and that, if the allies, particularly the British stick to the order in council, some sort of weapon will have to be used.

In many quarters, it was believed the intimation from Teutonic sources, that Germany and Austria would like to buy 3,000,000 bales of American cotton, if they can be delivered, with a step toward precipitating the expected Anglo-American issue.

Report Nearly Ready

MATERDAM, Aug. 28.—The report of the German submarine commander who sank the Arabic will be in the hands of the German admiralty within two days, if it has not already arrived, according to Berlin advices this afternoon.

Several submarines whlve have been absent from their base for more than two weeks, operating in the Irish sea have returned and reported to the admiralty.

The Austro-Germans in Galicia have begun a new offensive movement, it was officially reported this afternoon. After several weeks of inactivity General Von Linsingen has broken the Russian positions on the Zlota Lipa river.

German forces have occupied the town of Narew, the war office also reported.

FRENCH AVIATORS ACTIVE

PARIS, Aug. 28.—French aviators were again active last night, bombarding the railway station at Chatelet in the Argonne.

This afternoon's official communication reported furious bomb explosions along the plateau between Quennevillers and Nouvron, but without important results. Along the Argonne the German artillery attacks on the French trenches were quickly silenced.

KLEIN LANDS BIG MUSKIE IN VILAS

Former La Crosse Man Sends Kroner 27-Lb. "Tiger" Caught in Found Lake

A muskellunge weighing twenty-seven pounds is being exhibited in the window of the Fred Kroner Hardware company by Ludwig Kroner, to whom the big fish was shipped by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Klein, formerly of this city. Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Klein, who was for a time connected with the La Crosse Plow company, is making a tour of the northern lakes in a small motor boat.

The catch was made in Found lake, Vilas county, after a battle lasting more than an hour and a half. Mr. Klein was compelled to fire two shots into the fish before his victory was complete. The "muskie" is one of the largest ever seen in La Crosse. It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Klein were endangered by the tornado which swept Ferryville in July as they were ascending the Wisconsin river in a 16 foot power boat. They barely escaped with their lives at that time.

During his residence in this city, Mr. Klein was one of the best shots in the La Crosse Gun club.

REPORT OF RUSS VICTORY AGAIN BRANDED FALSE

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, Aug. 28.—For the second time the German admiralty today issued a statement declaring the Russian admiral's claim that the battle cruiser Moltke and other German ships had been destroyed in the Gulf of Riga was a "fake."

"No such battle took place," the admiralty stated. "A German squadron, entering the bay, encountered only light Russian ships which were partly destroyed and partly chased away. The German losses have already been mentioned in an official report. No big ship was sunk or seriously damaged."

Hard Drinking Frowned On.

One can hardly take up a work dealing with the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and the early part of the nineteenth which does not teem with allusions to the prevalence and popularity of hard drinking. But within the past fifty or sixty years the attitude of the British people of every rank and class has changed. The drunkard is despised by high and low.

Of course the average man is above the average. If you doubt it, ask him.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Prince's Laugh That Was Good Medicine.

He Laughed and He Laughed.

"I THINK, kiddies," announced daddy, "that since you like them so well I will tell you the bedtime story tonight in verse."

"Oh, daddy, that will be fine," cried Jack. And Evelyn urged, "Do make up some more verses, daddy."

"Well," replied daddy thoughtfully, "let's see." And then he started right in: "In a far country long ago once lived a fat little prince, you know. That prince was as fat as a baseball's brother. He could roll the one way same as 'tother."

"He was chubby and round and grumpy and cute, and he had a good disposition to boot."

"From the day he came to this funny old earth he lived for laughter and lived for mirth."

"Now, the prince's dad and the prince's mother were not as fat as a baseball's brother."

"For they were solemn and sad and sour. You'd think they'd never seen one glad hour."

"And the rest of their court, it aped their graces, and went about with the longest faces."

"You mustn't do this and you mustn't do that" every one said to that little prince fat.

"In the garden and in every palace room, all he met was general gloom."

"But one fine day he watched the crowd, and then he started to laugh out loud."

"You see, my dears, they looked so glum, it was really funny. The little fat tumb."

"Of the little fat prince, it shook with laughter. He said, 'Excuse me, I really hafter."

"I suppose it's a naughty thing to do, but could you see yourselves you'd laugh too."

"And he laughed till his laugh was a regular roar, and then he just started in once more."

"And the king and the queen, they followed suit, and they chuckled and giggled and laughed to boot."

"And because of the prince's laugh that day the court became like a holiday."

"So, kiddies, my dears, when you're feeling sad a laugh will make you and others glad."

Beginning of "Reuter's."

Reuter's the European news agency, had a curious beginning. Baron Reuter long nursed an idea for organizing the supply of foreign news in identical terms to all the newspapers, but editors gave him no encouragement. At last he determined to risk things, and arranged with correspondents all over Europe. When their messages began to come in he took them round personally to the newspaper offices and offered them for nothing, on condition that his name should be printed against them. "Try them for von month," he urged. "If they not satisfy you, well, to you it signify nothing." One editor after another did try them, with such results that when Reuter broached the subject of subscription rates his demands were readily complied with.

Day of the Bottle.

The prevalence of excessive drinking both in Scotland and England is indicated by Sir Walter Scott in several of his works. In "Rob Roy," for example, old Sir Hildebrand Osbaldistone, administering a "practical moral lesson" to his nephew Francis and his son Rashleigh, advises them to "gradually inure their brains to bear a gentlemanlike quantity of liquor," recommending them how to set about it and assuring them that they would be able in time "to carry off their six bottles under their belt quietly and comfortably."

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE SUBSTITUTE COOK

BY LOUISE OLIVER

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Ting-a-ling, a-ling, a-ling. Don't you hear the bell ring? The letter man! The milk man! The man that brings the water can—" Quoted Dorothy, as the electric buzzer below stairs sounded for the tenth time that morning. She put down her dust cloth and started for the door.

"Another agent, I'll wager anything! I'm getting expert on the shoo-fly business. Aunt Bertha is so easy any one could sell her Belgian real estate for spot cash. It's a good thing she isn't home today. I've scared away a dozen."

Dorothy opened the front door belligerently. "Well?" she demanded of the young man who stood there. "I should like to see Mrs. Brenning. Is she at home?"

Dorothy mentally surveyed herself in her dust cap and gingham apron. She was also quite sure of a smudge on her nose. "No, the missus isn't in," she said with finality.

The young man did not move. He looked at the grip at his feet, as though loath to leave without explaining about it. "Perhaps you will do," he insisted confidently.

"The men with baking powder and blueing have already been here, so has the lady with the newest cooking book and the one with the quickest silver polish. Two magazine men and a broom man have just gone. There is nothing else we need. Good day," Dorothy turned and started to close the door.

"But I have nothing to sell really. If you will just let me explain."

Dorothy shook her head with firmness. The crack of the open door diminished slowly but surely to a mere thread. "They all say that. No, nothing today, thanks," and she just added as a parting shot, "the name of the family next door is Jenks."

Then the door shut and Dorothy flew to her cleaning. "If Aunt Bertha doesn't come with a maid this morning I'll—I'll burst. It's awful to have all the work to do and the bell to answer."

Aunt Bertha returned, as Dorothy had feared, with no maid and no prospect of any. To make matters worse, a letter came that afternoon from Bob, Dorothy's brother, in college. "Dear Aunt and Sis," it read, "I've arranged for Davis, captain of the Worcester football team, to meet me at home to discuss bookings for coming games. I expected to make it by tomorrow (Thursday), but turned my ankle in the gym this morning, and that means Saturday at least before I can get around. Davis expects to be in town a week or so, anyway, so it won't make much difference to him about my delay. Only if he comes around put him up, will you? Treat him well and feed him (he boards) and help him to put in the time. I'll be along about Saturday evening. Lovingly, Bob."

"I can't be a kitchen angel and a parlor angel at the same time, Aunt Bertha. Which shall it be?"

As if in answer to her question, a man came up the steps and rang the bell. They had a splendid view of him from the library window, and Dorothy recognized him instantly as agent of the morning. At the same time Aunt Bertha remarked excitedly, "Why, I believe that's Bob's friend, now!"

Dorothy recalled the man's protests and his attempts to explain something she had refused to hear, and she had a sickening feeling that her aunt was right, and that with her usual habit of jumping at conclusions she had made a nice mess of things.

"Aunt," she gasped, "we can't let him in. That's the man I told you about, who thought I was the maid, and I insulted him."

"But Dorothy, we'll have to," as the bell rang again. "Bob would never—"

Dorothy's brain worked quickly. "All right," she interrupted, jumping up and making for the door. "He thinks I'm the maid. Then I'll be the maid and do the work, and you'll have to back me up and keep him out of my way as much as possible. There, you answer the bell and I'll run up and change my clothes."

Mrs. Brenning and her guest sat

WHAT TO DO FOR ITCHING SKINS

Eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need not hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is, the resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful that thousands of other physicians have been prescribing it constantly for 20 years. Resinol stops itching instantly, and almost always heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's.

CLEARs BLOTCHY SKIN

Try resinol soap for a week. You will be surprised to see how it clears and freshens your complexion, even in that short time. Used for the shampoo, it removes dandruff and keeps the hair live, rich and lustrous. This is because it contains the soothing, healing resinol medication.

AMERICA'S GREATEST CIGARETTE

Makers of the Highest Grade Turkish and Egyptian Cigarettes in the World

down to a very delectable dinner that evening. Even Aunt Bertha had never suspected such cooking ability to be latent in her niece. The soup, roast, salad and dessert were irreproachable and served adroitly by the little maid who had cooked them.

The young man had glanced at the girl when he sat down, but she gave no sign of recognition. The rosy little face, with hair brushed back tight under a cap, might have been carved from wood, so impassive was it.

Dorothy, christened Dolly by her aunt pro tem, remembered what Bob had said about the "boarding house." For breakfast there were fruit, cereal, creamed sweetbreads on toast, hot rolls and golden brown coffee with real cream. Dolly got up at 5 to prepare that breakfast. Marshall Davis—that was his name—ate until she thought he would burst. She found a $1 bill under his plate when he had gone.

Luncheon was equally palatable, judging from the things Mr. Davis did not leave. Dinner, ditto! The meals on Saturday were beyond compare. Certainly Mrs. Brenning had no need to complain of her cook.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Davis complacently while smoking an after dinner cigar, "that Bob and his sister would never want to stay away from home for a minute. You have such an excellent chef, Mrs. Brenning."

Dolly, who was removing the dessert things, paled. So Bob had told him he had a sister! Could he suspect anything?

An hour later Dolly was putting the last polishing touches to her kitchen. Mrs. Brenning, who had a sick family on her hands, had hurried away after dinner. Bob had not appeared.

Dolly was covering the breakfast rolls with a clean cloth when some one tapped cautiously on the window. Dolly hesitated, then the tap was repeated on the door, and, without further warning, the door opened slowly and a head in a policeman's helmet poked itself in.

"Is the missus gone?" said the head.

Dolly looked hard. The face was familiar, yet—

A hand went up and removed the headpiece.

"Mr. Davis!" gasped Dolly.

"The same," said Mr. Davis, showing the rest of himself in complete policeman's uniform, as he stepped inside and closed the door.

"Faith, it's a beau you're havin'." Dolly. I've come to call on the cook and thank her for havin' sich illigant meals."

Dorothy's head was buzzing. "But—but I'm not really the cook, Mr. Davis!"

But you wouldn't come into the parlor to talk to me, so I had to hunt you up here!"

"How did you find out who I am?"

"By the picture on the parlor table, mavourneen."

Cook sat down weakly. Policeman sat down sociably. And that was where Aunt Bertha and Brother Bob found them, chatting for dear life, a few minutes later.

SOCIALISM AND WAR

Because it aims to attain "the brotherhood of man," socialism is opposed to war. Yet in Germany the socialists are fighting, in France the socialists are fighting.

But while, at first, socialists in Germany voted funds for war and rushed to the front, there seems to have been a revulsion of feeling on the part of some of them there. Perhaps it is because they realize that if Germany be successful in the contest the object of their propaganda, a near attained, will be put back a quarter of a century. It had been predicted that within half a decade the socialists, already formidable, would control Germany.

At any rate, socialists have recently made trouble in the reichstag, and some of their journals have complained of the war. An interesting comparison comes to hand, afforded by articles which recently appeared respectively in a German and a French socialist organ.

From "Vorwärts," which was suppressed by the German government for the utterance, we quote the following excerpt from an editorial:

The present crisis is terrible. It shows us that that the German people are stricken with a malady which in the end may prove fatal; and this malady is jingoism.

As soon as war was actually declared the people of other nations were subjected to every insult. We were honest Germans; our adversaries were brutal Russians; "perfidious English," "insolent Serbs." The more down the signs of shops that bore a few words of English or French. As to who began the war, we were the innocent lambs, while the French, Russians, and British were the wolves of the fable. Those who formerly had imputed to the Jews all the faults of our social state now discovered in England the cause of everything.

Ah! Don't let us throw stones at others, we who live in glass houses! Let us not look for the mote in our neighbor's eye, but take the beam out of our own. In this way we shall make the first step toward l'entente internationale and toward peace.

This from La Guerre Sociale, a French socialist organ:

Ring, bells! Cannon, thunder in the air.

Without shame and without fear: Ring for our kindred; ring for our friends!

Ring for those who die at the front for their country!

If metal should fall, O bells and chimers: Down from your towers and turn you to cannon!

Sens! Tonnerre! Carlepoint! Argonne! Argonne!

Lyons, Rennes, Strasburg and Paris! Versailles! Versailles!

However, the contrast may not be typical. Reginald Wright Kauffman, in a recent article, says that all the socialist papers of Europe, including Germany, are "shrieking" for war.

Certainly those that continue to publish are, else would they be suppressed.

GIVE TO LA CROSSE A TRADEMARK

Live cities have mottoes, slogans, just as the live football team has its "yell."

That is, most live cities do.

La Crosse has attempted slogans. There was, "Keep Your Eye on La Crosse," there is now that legend on the pilot wheel in the board of trade's advertisements.

But, somehow, these slogans have not "taken." Perhaps we haven't hit the right one. Recently John Toeller motored over from Battle Creek with his auto covered with flags and streamers on each of which was some motto extolling that Michigan city. They were full of punch, they talked to one. We imagine one or more of these appears on the letter-head of every live business man in Battle Creek. We'd like to see a La Crosse slogan so full of "punch" that it would just naturally find its way onto the business stationery of our business men.

Some cities are not content with a brief slogan—they adopt creeds. Here is one that is signed, as a pledge, by the citizens of Hillsboro, Ohio:

I am a citizen of the United States, and believe that our flag stands for the good of all the people.

I am a citizen of Hillsboro, and will show my patriotism and love for our village by helping to make every corner of her territory a place fit to grow good men and women. My rule shall be:

"I am but one, But I cannot do everything; What I can do, I ought to do."

I pledge myself to make my own surroundings beautiful and sanitary, and will endeavor to induce others to do likewise.

Chicago's "Where we will there's a way," seems to put the ball against the fence. Isn't there a "homer" in the bright lexicon of La Crosse epigram? We want some citizen to try Cobb us a haymaker too hot for competitors to handle.

SANTA FE WRECK FATAL TO FOUR

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 28.—Crashing through a weakened bridge, a north-bound Santa Fe train bound for Prescott, was wrecked today at Dale Creek, seventy miles from here. Four are reported dead and twelve injured.

The wreck resulted from weakening of a trestle, following a cloudburst which swelled the creek waters enormously.

KING OF SWEDEN ESCAPES DEATH

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 28.—King Gustave of Sweden narrowly escaped death at Jerna yesterday, it was learned here this afternoon, when he slipped and half fell between the platform of the railway station and a moving train. He arrived here today suffering from painful injuries but not seriously hurt.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Most Time for 'em Now

A canvas barn, a painted tree, A slow New England drawl;

A large square room with two or three Worked mottoes on the wall;

A hint of wicked city life By someone in the cast,

Who plays an honest farmer's wife With something of a past.

A man from town whose shirt is clean And has at least two suits,

To brighten up the rural scene Of overalls and boots.

A cow, if one can be secured, A dog or two and you're assured

Unqualified success. Just take these few ingredients

And mix them as you may, And keep them free from common sense,

You'll have a rural play.

Hard Luck

A man was once talking about hard luck, and his friend was listening with a sour expression.

"Why, you don't know what hard luck is!" said the friend. "I have always had it. When I was a kid there was such a bunch of us in the family that there had to be three tables at meal times, and I always got the third one."

"What's hard about that?" snapped the other.

"Why," says his friend, "it was 15 years before I ever knew a chicken had anything but a neck."—Penny Magazine.

Yankee Fodder

Senator Hoar used to tell, with glee, of a southerner just home from New England who said to his friend:

"You know those little white round beans?"

"Yes," replied the friend, "the kind we feed our horses?"

"The very same. Well, do you know, sir, that in Boston the enlightened citizens take those little, white round beans, boil them for three or four hours, mix them with molasses and I know not what other ingredients, bake them, and then—what do you suppose they do with the beans?"

"They—"

"They eat 'em, sir," interrupted the first southerner, impressively, "bless me, sir, they eat 'em!"

Severe Measures Demanded

A woman went into a police station and began reading the Bible to the officers in charge. She was arrested promptly and taken to a hospital insane ward, and subjected to observation.

This recalls the story to the man who went into Westminster abbey and knelt in the aisle to pray.

Up ran a verger who collared the kneeling man and proceeded to turn him over to the police.

The man objected, whereupon the verger replied:

"If I don't make an example of you, sir, we'll 'ave people prayin' all over th' church!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Well Groomed

Miss Brightman kept a very attractive little team, and when away on a business trip recently she left it in charge of a young woman clerk. The morning she returned she did not think things looked quite as neat and attractive as usual.

"You know, Miss Bristol," remarked the proprietress, as she glanced around, "there is a great deal in having your sandwiches look attractive."

"Yes, Miss Brightman, I know it," was the reply. "I have dusted those sandwiches every morning for the last ten days."—Harper's Magazine.

Dogs in War Time

The author of "Esther Waters" has addressed a letter to the press on the subject of the food question which has aroused the wildest indignation in canine circles, and angry dogs are now asking for Moore. The distinguished novelist, who estimates that there are in London "a million and a half of dogs, every one of which eats as much as a human being," has, it is declared, mistaken the dogs' ambition for their actual achievements. It is man, the dogs retort, that is the greedy animal, and if he could only be abolished there would be no food question at all.—Punch.

The Souvenir Feathers

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas predicts a nation-wide prohibition within five years.

"There is only one thing that can stop the prohibition movement," Mr. Sheppard said in Washington the other day, "and that is bribery and corruption."

He smiled and sighed. "Bribery and corruption! We find it everywhere," he said. "A young woman visited the Austin Corbin show place in New Hampshire last month. The stately peacock fascinated her. She said to a keeper, thinking she'd like a souvenir:

"Do these birds ever drop any of their tail feathers?"

"The keeper put his hand to his mouth and answered in a hoarse whisper:

"They're obstinate brutes, lady, but they drop 'em easy enough at the sight of a quarter."

SOURCES OF THE RAIL TOMATO CROP

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—Beginning early in the year and continuing until late in the fall, tomatoes are shipped commercially from over half of the states of the union. There is probably no other perishable vegetable commonly grown out of doors in the United States which appears on the market through a longer season than does the tomato.

Florida, of course, with its location and climate, stands as the premier tomato state and starts the tomato movement each year in January. The northern states, such as New York and Ohio, finish out the season in October, and by the time the movement is over, approximately twelve thousand cars are moved for table consumption, according to a recent survey made by the department of agriculture and published in Bulletin No. 290, "Rail Shipments and Distribution of Fresh Tomatoes in 1914."

Florida ships about half the tomatoes moved (6,000 cars), with Mississippi, New Jersey and Texas handling approximately 1,500 cars apiece. The other states grow tomatoes in smaller quantities, but in certain districts such as West Tennessee, the crop is of great local importance.

Cement Coating for Steel.

From tests made to determine the degree of protection against the action of sea water given to steel by coating it with cement, it has been found that the life of steel structures immersed in sea water can be considerably prolonged by such coatings from 1/2 inch to 1 1/2 inch thick, but that the protection is not great enough to dispel all apprehensions as to their permanency under such conditions.—Popular Mechanics.

All Ready For The Picnic

Many a picnic has been spoiled by the necessity of some one struggling over a hot kitchen range to prepare the lunch. A Gas Range will roast the chicken or do any baking that you may wish quickly and easily without tiring you out before you start. It is your best friend in an emergency, for preparing a quick lunch; for cooking meals for unexpected guests it will never fail you.

New Cabinet Gas Ranges Make Cooking a Pleasure

Gas cookery is cookery without the guesswork, without the uncertainty. You never have to offer the excuse: "The oven was not right." The oven is always right with a Gas Range. And then if you wish to close the house for the day you do not have to leave a coal fire burning to make your house unbearable upon your return. Cook the sensible way—the Gas way.

HOME RULE LEAGUE FAILS IN EFFORT TO SET ASIDE LAW

Dane County Court Upholds Corrupt Practices and Indictment Stands

PIERCE PROMISES AN APPEAL

Law Within Constitutional Limits and Plain of Terms Says Court's Decision

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Following the decision of Judge John C. Fehlandt of the municipal court of Dane county late yesterday afternoon denying the application of Charles E. Pierce, president of the Home Rule & Taxpayers' league, to quash the indictment came the announcement from the offices of the league here that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court to test the validity of the corrupt practices act.

Came as Test of Law
The action against Mr. Pierce was the outgrowth of grand jury proceedings in this county at which Mr. Pierce announced that he was willing that a friendly suit should be started to test the validity of the law. The case was argued at length before Judge Fehlandt by District Attorney Harry Southoff. Several attorneys appeared for the league, including T. C. Richmond of Madison and J. M. Clancey, Stoughton.

The Heim bill in the legislature was an attempt to strengthen that section of the corrupt practice act requiring the filing of expense statements, but was vetoed by Gov. Philip.

Judge Fehlandt in his decision said:

This is a motion to quash the indictment against Charles E. Pierce on three grounds: First, that the indictment does not charge or state facts sufficient to constitute an offense under the statutes; second, that the act is unconstitutional for the reason that it violates section 3, article 1 and section 1, article 1, of the constitution of Wisconsin; third, that the corrupt practices act was not passed to cover situations such as is disclosed by the evidence in this case.

"The court finds after careful examination of all the evidence, arguments and records in this case, that the indictment charges an offense in the language of the statute with such degree of certainty that the court may pronounce judgment upon conviction according to the rights of the case. (Sires vs the state, 73 Wis. 251).

No Attack on Freedom

"As for the second ground, the court has perused the statutes and its various subdivisions, commonly known as the corrupt practices act, most carefully, and cannot find any prohibition upon either free speech or freedom of the press. Any citizen of this or any other county still has the right to travel from city to city, hire halls, deliver addresses, insert page advertisements in the newspapers, rent billboard space for posters, and in short employ each and every method known to the political campaigner, only such activities must be done with full publicity as to the source of revenue and the avenues of expenditure. Such publicity does not abridge these ancient and honorable rights, but, on the contrary, carefully preserves them inviolate. Our court has held that the act is constitutional in all its provisions with the exception of the right of trial by jury. (Exrel Schumacher, 160 Wis. 141).

"The Gang" Calls On Teacher Of Early Days Here

Miss E. D. Coburn Entertains City Officials and Business Men, One of Whom is a Grandad, She Taught in 1875

Six boys went to call on their teacher last night. They spoke in heavy bass voice, there was plenty of whiskers in evidence, and one of them is a grandpa, but they were dutifully respectful in "The Presence" as became pupils before the pedagogical power.

This was "the gang": Alderman B. C. Smith, W. L. Smith, Jake Becker, Seymour L. Meister, Joseph C. Wolford and City Sealer E. H. Derr. They called on Miss E. D. Coburn, who taught them the three R's and due respect for authority along back in 1875, in the old First Ward school. Miss Coburn is visiting Mrs. Catherine A. Canterbury, 1636 Wood street. She is spending a few weeks in La Crosse before returning to Chicago, where she is still actively engaged in teaching, and since her presence here became known has been visited by scores of well-known men and women whose young ideas she trained in the early days. Miss Coburn taught in the First Ward school from 1875 to 1881.

"Well, boys," Miss Coburn smiled as "the gang" got up to go after an hour's matching of reminiscences last night. "I'm glad you came." Her eyes ranged over the husky forms of her callers. "There wasn't a dwarf in the class, was there?" she said.

GERMAN "U" FIRES ENGLISH FACTORY

BERLIN, via Wireless to London, Aug. 28.—A German submarine on August 16 destroyed by artillery fire the Benzole factory and warehouse at Harrington, England, where high explosives were manufactured. It was officially announced today.

"The same submarine," the admiralty said, "was attacked by a passenger steamer. The steamer used a cannon for attack, not defense."

PAYING THE GAS BILL

"After the Germans used asphyxiating gas at Ypres, the Allies attacked them with the bayonet very ferociously."

The speaker was George Ade, who was presiding at a Chicago athletic club luncheon.

"That was as it should be," said Mr. Ade, yawning behind his hand, "for, of course, those who use gas must be charged for it."

He Would Fight Janitor But He Meets The Judge

Dr. H. W. Coulter, who said his home is in Seattle, discovered last night it does not pay to threaten a man with a pull. He got into an argument with Louis L. Brown, janitor of the city hall, in front of the Majestic theatre last night and pulled off his coat with promises of dire doings.

Janitor Brown disappeared up the alley to his friends at Central police station for reinforcements. The doctor spent the night on a hard bunk.

This morning he stripped $17.50 from a roll of bills amounting to $869 and tossed them to Judge C. W. Hunt in police court. The charge was "disorderly conduct."

YOUNG PEOPLE TO START NEW YEAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The wrist watch was on trial today before a jury of its peers. Before darkness settles on a troubled world it will know whether it is more fashionable to flirt the cuff to get the hour, or whether the old prosaic dragging of several lengths of yellow log chain from the wrist is fashion's favorite. No matter what the jewelers decide here follows the voice of the public on the wrist watch: Mrs. Julian Heath, New York—President Housewives' league.—The first time I saw a wrist watch on a man, I looked to see if his hair was curly. Mrs. Henry Butterworth, New York, prominent suffragist.—A strap applied elsewhere would do some men more good than around their wrist. ST. WORKERS DESERVE
SHARE OF PROFITS
WALSH DECLARES

Virtual Armed Truce Exists
Between Labor and Capital Bred From Bitterness

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—Demand of a large share of the profits of their labors by America's workers from "stockholders and directors who never visit their plants" was made in the last of the reports which followed the investigations of the United States commission on industrial relations. The report was published today. It was the personal findings of Chairman Frank Walsh and was signed by him and Commissioners John B. Lennon, James O'Connell and Austin B. Garretson. The report declares, in effect, that a virtual armed truce between capital and labor exists, because of bitterness bred of unfilled need for insufficient food, clothing and shelter among the workers while the proprietors of the great industrial plants have more than plenty.

Report to congress was given out today by Chairman Frank P. Walsh as his personal findings as to the general causes of industrial unrest, and was concurred in by Commissioners John B. Lennon, James O'Connell and Austin B. Garretson. "We find the basic cause of industrial dissatisfaction to be low wages. Or, stated in another way, the fact that the workers of the nation through compulsory and oppressive methods, legal and illegal, are denied the full product of their toil. "We further find that unrest among the workers in industry has grown to proportions that already menace the social good will and the peace of the nation. Citizens numbering millions smart under a sense of injustice and oppression, born of the conviction that the opportunity is denied them to acquire for themselves and their families that degree of economic well-being necessary for the enjoyment of the material and spiritual satisfaction which alone make life worth living. "Bitterness, bred of unfilled need for sufficient food, clothing and shelter for themselves and their wives and children, has been further nourished in the hearts of these millions by resentment against the arbitrary power that enables the employer under our present industrial system, to control not only the workman's opportunity to earn his bread, but oftentimes, through the exercise of this power, to dictate his social, political and moral environment. By thwarting the human passion for liberty and the solitude of the husband and father for his own, modern industry has kindled a spirit in these dissatisfied millions that lies deeper and springs from nobler impulses than physical need and human selfishness. "Inasmuch as most good things are produced by labor, it follows that all such things of right belong to those whose labor has produced them. But it has so happened in all ages of the world, that some have labored and others have without labor enjoyed a large proportion of the fruits. This is wrong and should

FINED FOR BEATING WOMAN
William Chamberlain, proprietor of the old Jack Bennett resort on the South Salem road, paid a fine of $17.50 in police court late yesterday afternoon for beating Josie Knutson, his housekeeper. Chamberlain was arrested on the corner of Twelfth and Pine streets when residents of the vicinity telephoned the police that he was abusing a woman. Chamberlain pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct before Judge C. W. Hunt.

Post Office in Two Countries.
Beebe Plain, Que., has what is said to be the only double post office in the world. The office is half in Canada and half in the States, with Beebe, Quebec, on one side, and Beebe, Vermont, on the other. An iron post in the middle of the front porch marks the international boundary line. Aside from its location the building is of interest on account of the material from which it is built, which is granite, native to the locality, and on account of its age, which is about a century. The two prosperous communities, which it serves, and which are practically one village, have a population of about 1,000, and are said to own more automobiles than any other village of this size in Canada.

SPOTLIGHTS

PAN HANDLE PETE
One of the most sparkling sessions of comedy ever inaugurated in this city will be seen at the La Crosse theater Saturday, August 28, when Pan Handle Pete will be presented. Everything is said to be fresh and overflowing with humorous situations, catchy dialogue and surprising changes that keep the audience on the que vive for surge after surge of side splitting amusement.

PRINCE OF TONIGHT
It is the unexpected that succeeds best, at least in the mimic world, back of the footlights. In the last act of "The Prince of Tonight" the fantastic musical comedy which will appear at the La Crosse theater tomorrow, matinee and night, an elaborate banquet board is spread. It is a triangular shaped affair, pointing to the rear of the stage, and looks like an imitation snow plow going through a garden of artificial flowers and a small crop of pretty electrolights. The visible center of the triangle is banked with red and white blossoms, rising from the curtain line to a height almost level with the table itself. And herein lies the unexpected, a veritable surprise, and one quickly commended by connoisseurs of stage doings, yet not a single show girl "broiler" nor "pony" pops out of that bed of flowers.

APPLETONIAN PUTS NEW LIFE IN THE FIGHT GAME HERE

Walter L. Kannia Here Organizing Athletic Club Which Will Open Season With Wolgast

The fight game came back to life in La Crosse today after having been defunct a year.

Walter L. Kannia of Appleton, promoter, worked the resurrection. He circulated about town with a paper this morning, and by noon today had formed the nucleus of the Kannia Athletic club, which will take out a state license and hold fights here beginning September 29. Ten memberships are to be issued in the club. Seven were sold at noon today. The club will incorporate within the next fortnight, Mr. Kannia said.

LOCAL VETS LOSE CATTLE INSPECTION

The recent ruling of state sanitary boards in North and South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming, demanding that cattle shipped to their states from Wisconsin be inspected by government cattle inspectors only has resulted in all La Crosse county veterinarians losing a profitable inspection practice.

The veterinarians hit here are S. B. Patterson, B. F. Holmes and George Suits, La Crosse; A. Biddison, West Salem; Howard B. Rohrer.

Several head of cattle which proved tubercular were purchased by a North Dakota farmer from H. L. Dunning, farmer, near Zenda, Wis. The Dakota man instituted suit against Dunning and State Veterinarian O. H. Eliason, who signed the certificate of soundness. The suit against Eliason was dismissed, but the Dakota man has received judgment against Dunning for $1,800.

STEP UP, FOLKS, AND BELIEVE AS MUCH AS YOU LIKE

PETROGRAD, Aug. 28.—The general staff today issued an official denial of the German claim that the fortress of Brest Litovsk had been captured.

Brest Litovsk was evacuated by the Russians, it was said, because it was considered inadvisable to open up within a garrison of 100,000 men. Valuable supplies were first removed. Then the forts on the left bank of the Bug held off the enemy until the main garrison had rejoined the field armies.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—(Via Wireless to London).—Official denial was made by the admiralty today of the claim by the British admiralty that Aviator Bigsworth sank a German submarine off Ostend. The "U" boat was attacked by the British aviator but returned to the harbor undamaged.

ALLIES HAVE PLAN TO HEAL COMMERCIAL DIFFERENCES WITH U. S.; WILL BUY AT FAIR PRICE ALL OF THIS YEAR'S COTTON

Ambassador Jusserand of France, J. P. Morgan; Secretary Lansing and Ambassador Spring-Rice of England

Details of a plan whereby Great Britain and France contemplate healing all commercial differences with the United States over the blockade of neutral European ports have been made public. Through the operation of this plan, which was presented to Secretary of State Lansing and J. P. Morgan by Ambassador Spring-Rice and approved by them, the allies expect to make a market for the entire cotton crop this year, and in addition they will attempt to purchase all quantities of wheat, corn, and packing house products which are available.

"Whys" of Moves in European War

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The struggle for Petrograd has begun. The Russians are retreating from Brest Litovsk directly toward Petrograd, and their present immediate objective, Minsk, is almost one-third the distance to the Russian capital.

No attempt is being made by the Grand Duke Nicholas to create diversion. He realizes the danger threatening Petrograd and his own purpose now is to concentrate all his available troops to block the German advance to the northeast. The Russian forces are keeping intact and it is probable that if the Slavs intend making an immediate stand to contest the way to Petrograd they will give battle between Vilna and Minsk.

Admirable opportunity for an offensive drive against the Germans, although chances are all against the Slavs being able to develop a counter offensive of their own. Could they do so, the German right wing might be forced into the Pripiet and Pinsk marshes and the memory of east Prussian reverses avenged.

In their turn, however, the Russians are approaching a difficult piece of country measurably comparable to the lake district of East Prussia.

This is the watery region north of Minsk, on both sides of the Dvina river. Innumerable small lakes and ponds cover the territory and amid these treacherous lowlands von Hindenburg may have an opportunity of repeating his two great victories of the marshes.

To avoid the danger of the lakes north of Minsk, the Grand Duke Nicholas will have to exercise careful strategy, but at the same time, the lake region will protect his left flank if he holds his line intact, and can retire to the Dvina in good order. His front, too, can be shortened. From the lakes to the gulf of Riga the distance is about 200 miles. This should comprise the entire Dvina front. It is shorter than any line the Russians have defended since the beginning of the war. If it cannot be held, Petrograd's fall is inevitable, unless the Teutons are compelled by events in the Balkans and Turkey to abandon the Russian hunt.

The alternating current lighting system in section bounded by Pine and Cass streets, Fourth and Ninth streets, will be shut off for repairs from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday, August 29. Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power Co.

MISSION MEETINGS CLOSE TOMORROW

POLICE UNEARTH DYNAMITE PLOT IN PROBING MURDER

GARY, Ind., Aug. 28.—Police trailing a "lead" they hoped would bring them closer to solution of the murder of Edmund Kayser, Lutheran minister and pro-German propagandist, today unearthed a conspiracy to blow up the great plant of the Aetna Powder company here.

Otto Kraemer of Mills, Ind., employee at the powder plant, the police admitted today, told them he was approached by two strangers who spoke with an accent, and offered $1,500 to blow up the gun-cotton shed where more than twenty tons of this explosive is stored. Most of it is for shipment to the allies.

"I was reading a German newspaper in the waiting room at the station when two foreigners approached me," said Kraemer. "One told me, without actually committing himself I would receive $1,500 cash if I 'accidentally' caused an explosion at the powder plant. I told him I'd think it over then I went to the police."

ject to the making of strong pleas for proper military preparedness, it would be impossible for him to entertain a more unwarranted one. I have gone to the limit of my vocabulary in an endeavor to make such pleas just as strong as words could make them. If he has found some stronger than I was able to find, he runs the risk that I will borrow them. He will, I feel sure, permit me to do so much, without requiring me also to borrow his idea that our present state of unpreparedness makes it desirable to engage in war with four or five other nations."

GOLDISH LEAVES FOR CITY IN OHIO

Well-known Business Man Moves Tomorrow for Marietta After Twenty Years in La Crosse

A. M. Goldish, 524 North 7th street, will leave La Crosse with his family tomorrow at 12:30, via the St. Paul road, for Marietta, Ohio, where he expects to make his home in future. After settling his family there Mr. Goldish will return to La Crosse to close out his business.

Mr. Goldish came to this country in 1888, settling in Duluth. In 1895 he established himself in La Crosse, where he was married in 1897. An interesting marriage, and it is partially in the interest of their education that Mr. Goldish has availed himself of a business opportunity in Ohio.

"It is hard to leave La Crosse, after twenty years of pleasant associations," said Mr. Goldish. "I want to bid goodbye to neighbors and fellow citizens through the papers. I wish the people here the best of good fortune. Particularly do Mrs. Goldish and myself wish to thank the school authorities of La Crosse, and the teachers, for the advantages our children have enjoyed. We can not go without expressing our appreciation of the Hixon school. It is a splendid influence upon the young. Its value will be fully appreciated through the citizenship of the growing generation."

Mr. Goldish has interested himself in sociological problems and has been liberal in his support of the charities. He worked earnestly for the liberations of Leo M. Frank, the victim of Georgialism.

POSTOFFICE SAFE BLOWN

HANCOCK, Minn., Aug. 28.—Robbers early today blew the safe of the Hancock postoffice and escaped with stamps and money, the amount of which is unknown.

WELSH SITUATION MAY SPREAD TO ENGLISH MINES

Northumberland Miners Vote to Seek Early Meeting With Owners

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The strike situation in Welsh coal mines became grave this afternoon and gave evidences of spreading to the English mines.

First intimation that the English miners may join their Welsh brothers in a general walkout that would tie up England's munitions plants came when the Northumberland miners' council at a meeting this afternoon voted unanimously to seek an early meeting with the owners.

Speakers addressed on the meeting, claiming that substantial advances in wages are due the men from the recent arbitration award. Officials viewed the situation with apprehension.

Word came from Newport today that probably every miner in the Monmouthshire district will quit work tonight unless today's conferences in London show a disposition on the part of the government to recognize the miners' claims. Four thousand more miners quit work in Monmouthshire today.

Miners' officials arrived here today to renew their attempts to convince President Walter Runciman of the government board of trade that his arbitration award had fallen far short of the promises made by the government. If Runciman ignores the miners' representatives for the second time and refuses them a conference, at least half the miners in South Wales are expected to quit work today.

A deputation of coal miners' representatives conferred with President Runciman and Lloyd George here today. The conference was inconclusive, and was adjourned until Monday.

PORTUGAL HAS OUTBREAK

PARIS, Aug. 28.—A new revolutionary movement has broken out in Portugal, north of Oporto, according to Lisbon advices today. The government has taken energetic measures to suppress it.

CARRANZA MAY GET ONE MORE CHANCE

Rumor is Special Envoy Probably General Scott, Will Be Sent To See Him

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—One more effort to persuade General Carranza to accept the Pan-American peace plea was forecast at the state department today.

It was reported a special envoy would be sent to see the first chief. This, it was thought, would be General Hugh L. Scott.

It is expected that the next Pan-American conference, to be called in a few days, will consider further plans with a view to convincing Carranza of the undesirability of continuing opposition to the conference program.

E. AND M. QUARANTINE OFF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—An agriculture department order, issued today and effective Monday, lifted the foot and mouth quarantine from Massachusetts and removed it, restricted its area or modified it in various Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Pennsylvania counties and townships.

The Anglo-Saxons.

The Angles and Saxons were the chief tribes among the three principal Teutonic conquerors of Britain; the Jutes were the third. They were Low Dutch tribes from the borderlands of Germany and Scandinavia, the lands at the mouth of the Elbe and the Weser. Their language was an independent branch of the Teutonic family. The Saxons were the first invaders, but the Angles settled more land. As their settlement became older and they themselves permanent residents of the island they called themselves "English," but their Celtic neighbors called them Saxons. Their language was, of course, established in England at the time of the Norman conquest in 1066, when Norman-French words and phrases of Latin origin became fused with the language of the people. The short and homely words of Anglo-Saxon origin remain, of course, as an integral and basic part of the English language, simpler, better known, less pretentious, and preferable in conversation to the words of Latin derivation.

Lansing and will remain about a week with relatives.

Some much needed work on the road just west of the city limits bordering on the James Hartley property, is now nearing completion. Motor owners became disgusted with the jagged rocks, and bumps always found along that stretch of highway, and improving the conditions. Last year, the late C. J. Wagner, inaugurated a move that was successful in bringing about many required betterments in roads adjacent to the city, but for a time this season interest seemed to wane, and this recent cooperation of business men and autoists will apparently weaken the old spirit of enthusiasm, and county thoroughfares will be kept passable at all times.

David Hurm and wife are at Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Hurm journeyed to consult the Doctors Mayo relative to the arm injured the past winter in a circular saw.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dolphin mourn the loss of their infant son, born Thursday.

Despite the inclement weather of Tuesday evening the ladies of the First Presbyterian church realized nearly thirty-five dollars on their supper.

Miss Margaret McGovern of Wexford joined friends in Lansing Wednesday, remaining over for the excursion Thursday.

Mrs. John Huecker of the county seat was among excursionists from this point ticketed for La Crosse Thursday.

Will Glynn and wife of Elkader are the guests of Lansing relatives. Mrs. Johnson of Hudson, Wis., is greeting old time friends in and about Lansing. She accompanied the Albert Olson family on their return from a Twin city and Wisconsin trip.

About two hundred left this point for La Crosse on the steamer Sidney Thursday. The extreme drop in temperature caused a decided decrease in numbers.

Mrs. Bert Byers terminated a short stay with Lansing friends Thursday, returning to her home at La Crosse.

Miss Esther Glynn leaves next week for a year's work at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Wonders in Clod of Earth.
A clod of earth may not seem to have any romance about it, but it is one of the most wonderful things imaginable. The soil is a living machine, where microbes so small that ten to one hundred million are contained in enough earth to cover a penny are working together in a systematic way. They cannot be seen and are only known by their work, and the greatest benefactors of the human race are those who promote their activities. The wise gardener looks after their well-being, for without them there could be no plant life and no human life, since all nutriment is drawn from the soil.

BRITISH ARMY NEXT YEAR MAY BE ARMORED IS RUMOR IN LONDON

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Aug. 14. (By mail)—The 1916 British army may be an armored army.

The great casualty list that filters through the war office every day from the front, the convalescent wounded and battered soldiers who are always on the streets and the overflowing hospitals are beginning to have their effect.

Many ask: "Isn't there a way to minimize this appalling situation?" Somebody has answered: "Armor."

And it's beginning to look like armor for the British soldiers of 1916. While the British war office is considering whether it shall slip back to medieval methods of warfare so far as the protection of the soldier is concerned, well known Britishers are telling the war office, through the press, that armor is a natural necessity in these days of machine guns and high-powered rifles.

Scores of suggestions for modern 1916 armor emanating from scientists have narrowed down to the practicability of a three piece suit of tempered steel that would protect the forehead, breast and abdomen—the three vital spots of the body. The favored headpiece, will, if authorized by the war office, take the form of the highly tempered steel skull cap-like protector now worn by the French to minimize the danger of shrapnel. The breastplate would be a thin leather covered by a hardened plate of steel curved to fit over the chest and held by straps that go over the shoulders and around the waist. The abdominal protector is suggested in the form of another curved sheet of steel fitting over the lower ribs and extending down to the bones of the hips.

The British war office four years ago experimented with a bullet proof breastplate at Aldershot where the device shed all the rifle and machine gun bullets that were fired against it at ranges of one foot to 500 yards. The breastplate was rejected on the ground that it added too much weight to the equipment of the soldier and reduced his marching efficiency.

With a war of great proportions that will probably last many more months or perhaps years and with the thousands of dead and the tens of thousands of wounded, the war office is believed to be reconsidering its objection to armor.

The men of the trenches at least probably will be thus equipped, according to information today.

KAISER CONFERS HONORSON PRINCES

German Emperor Praises Leaders in Telegrams
Conferring Order of Pour Le Merite

BERLIN, (Via Wireless to Sayville), Aug. 28.—Kaiser Wilhelm has conferred the Order of Pour le Merite on the German crown prince, the crown prince of Bavaria and the Duke of Wurtemberg.

In awarding these honors, the emperor sent each of the recipients a telegram. The telegram to the crown prince of Germany read as follows:

"This week occurs the anniversary of the battle of Longwy by which the fifth army under your leadership opened the way into the enemy's country. Success followed success until the task was fulfilled, establishing the connection between the western army and the home frontier. In the district north of Verdun your army has fulfilled its task in a manner, creating the foundation for our victories in the eastern theater of war. During the long wait imposed upon your army, the idea of resuming the aggressive did not affect you. No where was tenacious bravery, inflexible determination to conquer the enemy or consideration for your subordinates displayed more splendidly than during the tedious and heroic battle of the Argonne. I cannot refrain from expressing recognition of your achievements and those of your army by outward symbol. I therefore confer upon you the Order Pour le Merite."

The Kaiser's telegram to the Bavarian crown prince recalls the battle of Lorraine, "where your royal highness at the head of an army composed of the sons of all German states, drove back the invaders of German territory."

"This brilliant victory was followed by a period in which it was necessary for you to face repeated assaults by a numerically superior army in order to create conditions for our operations on the eastern front. You and your army performed this difficult task in a manner to be written forever in the pages of German history. In grateful recoglition of your services to the German cause, I confer upon you the Order Pour le Merite."

LOAN BEARS FIVE PER CENT

In his telegram to Duke Albert of Wurtemberg, the Kaiser said:

"A year has passed since the fourth army under your excellent leadership opened the way far into the enemy's territory by victorious engagements at Semos and Maas. At the head of a newly formed army composed of young and untrained troops, filled, however, with splendid spirit, you succeeded in frustrating the attempt of the enemy to encompass our northern flank and also got a footing on the coast of blood-soaked Flanders. Despite floods and bitter struggles with superior forces, you nobly achieved the task of protecting our rear while we were engaged in decisive actions. As a last recognition of your work I confer the Order Pour le Merite upon you."

LONDON JOURNAL PRAISES WILSON

Daily News Says President Has Won Diplomatic Victory Over Germany

LONDON, Aug. 28.—President Wilson not only has struck a great blow for peace, but has won a diplomatic victory of historic importance in inducing Germany to modify her submarine methods, the Daily News declared in a striking editorial today.

"Both the News and the Standard accepted the view that Germany is sincere in her latest representations to Washington and intends not only to disavow the Arabic attack but to promise that no more passenger-carrying ships will be torpedoed."

"It is not, of course, a great achievement in itself for a powerful government to extract from a still nominally friendly people an assurance that they will not murder any more of its subjects," said the News. "But it is a considerable feat to have broken at least the brutal self-sufficiency which it is claimed in Germany can be the only law by which the action of the government and the people could be guided."

"There is not the slightest reason to suppose that Mr. von Bethmann-Hollweg sanction this attack upon the Arabic or desired to acerbate the relations with America. The sinking of the Arabic may be assumed to have been the malignant trick of his opponents, the Tirpitzites, planned as much to embarrass him as to drive America to action."

The News said that possibly the submarine which sank the Arabic was later sunk by British warships and that for this reason it is easy for Germany to disavow the act of the U boat commander.

Some Anachronisms.

It is a question, parenthetically, whether it is truly sportsmanlike to live in a quaint old colonial cottage with a furnace and electric lights. I have heard amateurs of the colonial declare that they would willingly die before they would live in an electrically lighted colonial cottage. The anachronism horrifies them: they would have death or candles. Probably they feel the same way about a furnace and a bathroom. Yet I have no doubt that the builders of this colonial cottage would have opened their hearts to all these inventions; and I am not sure that they would have regarded as anything but funny the idea that their own kitchen paraphernalia would some day be used to decorate my dining room. I go further. Granting that electric light, a furnace, and a bathroom are anachronisms in this quaint old colonial cottage—what am I but an anachronism myself? We must stand together, the furnace, the electric meter, the porcelain bathtub, and I, and keep each other in countenance.—From the Atlantic.

Senator Beveridge's Book, What Is Back of the War, presents to Americans a new aspect of the war.

Ex-Senator Beveridge's articles in leading magazines have done a good deal to clarify American thought on certain aspects of the war. His book, What Is Back of the War, should deepen that effect. It is a book of facts, gathered at first hand, regarding the ideas and public sentiment back of the battalions of Germany, France, and England. The mental attitude of each nation is presented without perceptible bias, and the reader is left to draw his own conclusions. One of the most striking of these is that the war is likely to last a long time.

With truly American enterprise, Mr. Beveridge went to Germany and interviewed the Kaiser, Admiral von Tirpitz, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Professor von Harnack, various industrial and Socialist leaders, and average people of all classes. —New York Times

Senator Beveridge went into the trenches and among batteries in action. He saw battles. He visited hospitals, prison camps, and captured territories. And he tells what he saw there in his new book, What Is Back of the War. It presents much new authentic data to Americans on which to base judgment, to estimate resources, and to forecast the outcome.

The Washington Star says: The study represents a single-minded effort to get out the thought behind the war. Soldiers, officers, rulers, and practical thinkers of every grade of life have contributed to it. The result is a book of striking, immediate appeal, as it is also undeniably one of more than temporary historic value.

Athletes and Trainmen to Stage Second Battle at League Park Tomorrow Afternoon

Still smarting under the sting of last Sunday's 10 to defeat at the hands of the Athletics, the Trainmen today were taking their last practice before meeting the Athletics again tomorrow in the second game of their series for the city championship. Should they win tomorrow, another game will be played as the teams would be tied in games won and lost. The winner of the series will play the Nelsons for the city title.

Moppy Anderson, hero of last Sunday's game, will be in uniform for the game tomorrow, it being doubtful, however, whether he will pitch. Copey, mainstay of the team this season, is the popular choice for the fray with Krause next.

For the Trainmen it is probable that either Taylor or "Lefty" Ritter will do the mound work.

Pioneer Gunners Without Shoot As Trigger Breaks

There will be no shoot at the Pioneer Gun club tomorrow. The trap trigger is missing. The trigger of the new trap which was recently installed, was accidentally broken by the trap man directly following the conclusion of the tournament shoot last Sunday. The new one has not arrived. The postponement of the shoot Sunday will not prevent trapshooters from their weekly diversion as the La Crosse Gun club will hold their regular shoot at the north side grounds. They have extended a cordial invitation to all the members of the Pioneer club to enter the competition tomorrow.

His Translation.

"Hello! That you, dear?" "Yes."
"I'm going to bring Green up to supper tonight. We're on the way now."
"For goodness' sake, how many times have I told you never to invite your fool friends up here without giving me notice? I haven't a thing in the house. You make me tired. I've been working hard all day and was going to have just a little picked-up lunch tonight, and now you spring Green on me at the last minute. You must think I like to stand around a hot stove. I tell you right now you're not going to get any swell meal tonight. You'll get yesterday's cold lamb and some warmed-over potatoes, and if he doesn't like that he can lump it." "Yes, dear, that's fine. Just the thing. We'll be right up." "What did she say?" "She's tickled to death to have you come. Said she'd been wondering why I hadn't brought you up before. Come on."

Happiness a Duty.

The better we understand life, the more we come to the realization of the fact that happiness is a duty. It signifies that we are working in harmony with the laws of our being. It is one of the concomitants of righteousness. Righteousness in its last analysis will be found to be living in right relations with the laws of our being and with the laws of the universe about us. This attitude, this habit of happiness, is also a benefit to others. As cheerfulness induces cheerfulness in others, so happiness inspires and induces happiness. We communicate this condition to those about us. Its effects come back in turn from them to us again. As anger inspires anger, as love and sympathy inspire love and sympathy in others, each of its kind, so cheerfulness and happiness inspire the same in others.—Ralph Waldo Trine.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A good volume of activity marked the opening of the stock market today. There was, however, no inclination to bid prices up. Heavy sales of specialties, like United Railways, Pittsburgh Coal, Corn products and American Linsed were recorded.
Baldwin Locomotive was a strong opening feature at 1 1/4 up at 79 1/2. Comparatively little was done in leading stocks during the first hour. The tone was firm.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Wheat was firmer and higher at the opening today on reports of more bad weather, which sent the shorts to cover. Later in the prices fell off slightly at some selling on the early bulge. Prices closed at 97 1/4c, 95 1/2c and 1.00c for September, December and May, which represented recessions of 3/4c and 1/2c respectively for September and May. December closed unchanged.

Corn showed a strength that was rather unexpected. Forecast of cooler and wet weather helped buying. Prices closed at 73 1/4c, 63 1/2c and 64 1/4c, which represented advances for September, December and May respectively of 3/4c, 1/2c and 1/4c. Oats was inactive with a slight downward tendency. Provisions were lower.

MARSHAL KOPPELBERGER OPENS WINTER VAUDEVILLE CAMPAIGN TOMORROW AT THE MAJESTIC

Led by Gen. Knox Wilson, hero of a score of victorious musical comedy campaigns, King Vaudeville's forces will open their winter's siege of La Crosse risibilities and interest tomorrow afternoon. His strategy laid out along lines which he is confident will bring success, Field Marshal von Koppelberger rested on his arms today, preparatory to firing the first gun—raising the front drop—with his own hands when the orchestra crashes out the last note of the overture at tomorrow's matinee.

These are the troops composing the "first army":

Knox Wilson, musical comedy star; Billy Swede Hall and company, comedians; Jed and Ethel Dooley, versatile entertainers; Brown and Dean, blackface singing comedians; Three Falcons, comedy aerialists; Edith Mote, protean singer; Orpheum Travelogue, Pathe weekly.

Knox Wilson's offering "In Two" is a fitting headline for the first bill of the Majestic's new policy of bigger and better vaudeville. In the first place the star of the company is a famed musical comedy favorite. He played opposite Anna Held in three productions, and was starred and featured in such well-known Broadway successes as "The Burgomaster", "The Land of Nod", "Countess Coquette", "Broadway Honey-moon", "What's going on?", etc. In his vaudeville vehicle he has an offering built around his peculiar talents as a fun-maker. He carries special scenery of his own and his own piano.

With Knox Wilson's company on the bill is Billy Swede Hall, with Jennie Colborn in a screaming comedy skit "Mr. Bud Weiser". It is an act well-known on the Orpheum circuit as a sure-fire laugh originator, with Mr. Hall in the dual role of Mary Ellen Ryan, a chambermaid, and Bud Weiser, a race track tout. Miss Colborn appears as a New York chorus girl, and the fast and furious action of the piece takes place in a room in a western hotel.

Act Covers Much Ground
Jed and Ethel Dooley are likable young people with a unique offering of tremendous scope. It is singing, dancing, talking and rope-swinging, all of first rank. Browning and Dean are "coon-shouters" with a fast line of patter and new songs. The Three Falcons have a fresh aerial act with plenty of live comedy, and Miss Edith Mote's protean singing stunt is unlike any other on the stage. Miss Mote carries six trunks, all full of costumes, and she uses every one of them in her fifteen minutes on the stage.

The show will open with the famous Pathe news film of current events, and close with the Orpheum travelogue, which in the present number takes in scenes in France, Africa, Spain, Russia, French West Africa and Corsica. The Russian section is of timely interest, showing as it does the famous city of Moscow, to which it is rumored the Russian capital is to move before the flying advance of Gen. von Hindenburg.

New Policy Arouses Interest
Vaudeville patrons of the city were much interested today in the Majestic's new policy—metropolitan vaudeville, with an augmented orchestra and every other feature strictly in keeping with the high quality of the shows to be offered. Bills will change Sunday and Thursday. Two shows will be given daily, except upon Sundays and holidays, when there will be two evening shows, at 7:15 and 9:15. On week days the evening show will begin at 8:15. A matinee will be given every day. Prices for the afternoon are 15 and 25 cents, for the evening 15, 25 and 50 cents. A heavy sale was reported at the box office today.

BALLOT NOT FOR WOMEN

DENVER, Col., Aug. 28.—"A real woman can accomplish anything she sets her heart on, politically or otherwise," declared Mrs. Gore, wife of the blind Oklahoma senator, here today, "through her influence over the men folks in her family."

"When then waste her time over anything as commonplace as the ballot?"

"What does it give her that she cannot get without it?"

As for the women without any men folks to deal with, Mrs. Gore implied there need not be any such women.

league leaders where the terrible Tigers failed.

The Braves and Cubs spent a neutral afternoon at Boston, splitting a twin bill two ways. Cutting each other's throats while the Phils increased their lead, as it were.

Fred Snodgrass, who batted .194 with the Giants, got four hits and is now swatting the pellet around .400.

In spite of all the stars Comiskey has purchased, it took a rookie to put over a win yesterday. A Mr. Johns, formerly of Columbus, turned the trick that sent the anguished Athletics still lower.

CANADA ALLOTS MANY MEN FOR EMPIRE'S CAUSE

Acting Premier Says His Country Has Hundred and Fifty Thousand at Front

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 28.—One hundred and fifty thousand Canadians are on the battle line in Europe or are being trained for the war, according to an exclusive interview given the United Press today by Sir George E. Foster, acting premier of Canada and minister of trade and commerce. It was the first official announcement concerning the contribution of men Canada has made to the allies' cause. Sir George's statement follows:

"Up to the present time, Canada has trained over 70,000 men and sent them to the front or to base stations in Europe for further training. In addition 80,000 men are being recruited and trained in Canada itself for overseas service. If the occasion demands, Canada will increase still further assistance. She does this, not simply to help the mother country but because the dominion is a part of the empire and shares its ideals and perils equally."

"It is altogether probable that out of this co-operation in the struggle for existence of the British empire relations between the overseas dominions and the mother country will become closer than ever before."

"What methods of organization will bring this about and give it articulate form it is not worth while discussing now. That will remain for after consideration.

"Canada is not unduly feeling the burden of the war, owing mainly to her large agricultural resources and for the surplus of which the call is continuous and insistent; but whatever burdens Canada may be required to bear as a consequence of present conditions, she will bear cheerfully and without murmuring."

Without discussing the question of whether Britain controls the world's sea commerce, it is sufficient to note that her fleet has cleared the seas of the commercial marine and warships of the enemy and that commerce comes and goes between the ports of the empire and all neutral countries with uniform continuance and comparatively unimportant risks."

"Whilst Canada expresses no opinion as to the policy and action of the United States in respect to present world conditions she recognizes the genuine relations of friendliness and good will which prevail between the peoples of these two great adjoining countries."

DOES CARRIGAN SEE A WORLD'S SERIES IN SIGHT?

Making Things Even.

It would be difficult to find a region where the ups and downs of fortune have been so sudden and extreme as in California. In its early days, before its production of grain was equal to the demand, wages of farm hands were high, but as production increased the prices lowered faster than the rate of wages. A farmer employed an industrious Irishman for five years, at the rate of fifty dollars a month "and found"—board, lodging, washing, and mending. At the end of the term he said to his man: "I can't afford to pay you the wages I have been paying. You have saved money, and I have saved nothing. At this rate you will soon own my farm." "Then I'll hire you to work for me," said the other, "and you can get your farm back again."

COMMON-SENSE MUST RULE AUTO INDUSTRY

"The automobile business is fast approaching a crisis," asserts Hugh Chalmers. "The battle of the giants is now on. It is a battle royal for the supremacy of the medium priced car field."

"Up until the present time conditions in the automobile world have been unnatural. With the development of a dependable motor came a stupendous demand for motor vehicles of any available type. The demand at once exceeded the supply. Any one could sell any motor car at any price."

"But the staid old law of averages applies just as well to the automobile manufacturer as it does to the piano maker, or the typewriter man. After its brilliant run it must sober down to common-sense business principles, or some one else who is more far sighted is going to force to the front."

Two years ago Hugh Chalmers sent C. C. Hinkley, his chief engineer, to Europe to study motor design. While abroad, Mr. Hinkley collaborated with foreign builders and discovered that the European tendency was toward the valve-in-head motor overhead camshaft type. Upon his return to this country he set to work on a Chalmers motor of this design. The great war halted further operations abroad and the Chalmers company was thus first to market a car built along this principle.

The success which this type of motor met abroad has been duplicated in America. At Indianapolis and Chicago an overwhelming majority of the cars to finish in the winning class were built along these lines.

C. A. Pfeffer, vice president and assistant general manager of the Chalmers company, stated yesterday that July, 1915, was the biggest July in the history of the company. The business showed nearly 300 per cent increase over the business of the corresponding period last year.

OPENING PLAY ON IN NATIONAL GOLF MEET AT DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 28.—The high wind that has swept the course of the Detroit Country club for three days thoroughly drying and speeding up the links, died down during the night and the opening of the National Amateur Golf tournament dawned with ideal weather conditions. Champion Ouimet predicted that only a score of 85 or better will permit membership in the sixty-four of the 142 entrants who will be eligible for the second qualifying round Monday.

Francis Ouimet is the favorite for the championship in such waging as has been done this week with Travers and Evans the other two popular choices.

Kindly Superintendent.

A Chicago man with business interests in Missouri tells of an incident as a railway junction there. He was very hungry, with only two minutes before the departure of his train. "Sandwich and coffee," he said to the counter man. "Haven't time for anything else." "Easy, friend," said the other. "Take all the time you want. Cast your eye over this bill of fare and I'll phone the superintendent to hold the train a while." "Hold the train while I eat?" "Sure. This is a branch road, and there's no other train comin' or goin' over it this mornin'." The superintendent will want you to have a good meal—he owns this lunch room.
